Payments made in excess of the fair market value of each auction item qualify as charitable contributions, tax-deductible to the full extent of the law.

Payments that are equal to or lesser than the fair market value are not tax deductible.

Bids on each item must be made in the specified bidding increments. Any incorrect bids will not be registered by the bidding system.

All auction items must be paid for in full this evening, picked up at the door and taken with you when you leave, unless otherwise specified. We accept checks and credit cards.

All sales are final and subject to the conditions stipulated by the donors. Unless otherwise specified in the conditions of the auction item, all items must be redeemed by May 1, 2017. Purchasers may not ask for refunds or exchanges from the donors. Please observe any restrictions in the item description.

Theatre for a New Audience warrants neither the quality nor the value of items and services questioned, sold or provided. Values quoted have been provided by the donors and descriptions of items have been made with every reasonable effort to be accurate.

Theatre for a New Audience is deeply grateful to the many individuals and companies who so generously contributed to this event.

LIVE AUCTION

1. Dinner for Six (6) at Untitled at the Whitney Museum of American Art

Enjoy an evening at Untitled, Union Square Hospitality Group's latest restaurant, nestled under the Highline and in The Whitney Museum of American Art. Helmed by Executive Chef Michael Anthony, winner of the 2015 James Beard Award for "Outstanding Chef in America," you and your guests will be treated to a sumptuous four-course tasting menu of seasonal American cuisine paired with favorite wines from the restaurant's acclaimed cellar. Cheers!

Party date and time to be agreed upon by winner and the Untitled team.

2. Behind the Scenes of TFANA's Hamlet

Tony Award-winner Sam Gold will direct Oscar Isaac in Hamlet during Theatre for a New Audience's 2016-2017 Season and you're about to get the full experience. You and three guests will enjoy dinner with Mr. Gold and TFANA Founding Artistic Director Jeffrey Horowitz, prime house seats to our production in summer 2017, and a backstage meet and greet with Oscar Isaac. Isaac is celebrated for the honesty, authenticity and intensity of his performances, and Hamlet marks his long-desired return to theatre after an impressive series of starring film and television roles (Ex Machina, Star Wars: The Force Awakens, and HBO's Show Me A Hero). Gold is renowned for the all but transparent subtlety and nuance of the theatrical worlds he creates, including Annie Baker's The Flick; Will Eno's The Realistic Joneses; and the musical Fun Home (Tony Award, Best Direction). Together Isaac and Gold will explore the "undiscovered country" of Hamlet's world which begins, of course, with the first words of the play, "Who's there?"

SUPPORT NEW YORK PUBLIC SCHOOL CHILDREN

The Theatre's Arts in Education programs provide semester-long residencies linked to a Theatre for a New Audience Production.

Here is your chance to support Theatre for a New Audience's work on stage and in New York City's Public School classrooms. The productions of Shakespeare and classical theatre that more than 1,000 students and teachers from over a dozen New York Public Schools see at Polonsky Shakespeare Center are the same productions we produce for our general audiences. The Theatre's arts in education programs have been shown to increase students' literacy skills, motivation in the classroom and promote an interest in the arts. For many of the participating students, their visit to Polonsky Shakespeare Center represents their first experience with live theatre.

This year, your donation will also sponsor the participation of nearly 100 5th grade students and teachers at the PS110 Florence Nightingale School on the Lower East Side. Thanks to the foundations and individuals who support our education programs, as well as your support this evening, there is no charge to any of the students from any of our schools to participate in our transformative programs.

Help to underwrite a Theatre for a New Audience production and provide a memorable educational opportunity for students at Florence Nightingale School.

Value: Priceless (your gift is 100% tax-deductible)

107. The Judas Kiss at BAM and Barbecue at The Smoke Joint

In the spring of 1895, Oscar Wilde was larger than life. His masterpiece The Importance of Being Earnest was a hit in the West End; he was the toast of London. Yet by summer he was serving two years in prison for gross indecency. Discover the before and after of Wilde's downfall with four (4) tickets to The Judas Kiss at BAM featuring celebrated film and stage actor Rupert Everett. The Judas Kiss captures the brilliant gay aesthete and his wild adoration for Lord Alfred "Bosie" Douglas in this multidimensional study of an icon faced with annihilation. Before or after the show, you and your guests will enjoy a barbecue dinner with beer, wine or bourbon tastings at neighborhood favorite The Smoke Joint.

THE JUDAS KISS runs from May 11 - June 12, 2016. Tickets are subject to availability, and request form must be submitted in advance. Barbecue dinner must be scheduled at least one week in advance and tax and gratuity are not included.

211. Two Drinks and Two Dilemmas with Randy Cohen

Got an ethical dilemma? We know just the person to explore your thoughts with. Sort out your moral conundrums over drinks with Randy Cohen, the much-celebrated former author of The New York Times Magazine column, "The Ethicist" and host of NPR's "Person Place Thing."

From 1999 to 2011, Mr. Cohen wrote for "The Ethicist," exploring life's most challenging dilemmas in funny and insightful features. After leaving The New York Times Magazine, he continued his thought-provoking work with his podcast "Person Place Thing," a radio show based on the idea that people are particularly engaging when not speaking directly about themselves, but about something they care about. After the cocktails and questions, you'll take home a signed copy of Mr. Cohen's book Be Good: How to Navigate the Ethics of Everything. This will be an evening that you will never forget!

Date, time, and location to be mutually agreed upon. Must be scheduled one month in advance of desired date.

215. Long Day's Journey Into Night* and Meet and Greet with Michael Shannon

Elegant in its simplicity yet limitless in its scope, Long Day's Journey Into Night is the tale of an ordinary summer's day with extraordinary consequences. Drawing so heavily from the author's personal history that it could only be produced posthumously, the story of the Tyrone family and their battle to unearth—and conceal—a lifetime of secrets continues to reveal itself to audiences as one of the most profound and powerful plays ever brought to the stage. You and three guests will take the journey through an evening with the Tyrones, played by an incomparable cast of Jessica Lange, Gabriel Byrne, Michael Shannon and John Gallagher, Jr. Following the performance, you will have a backstage meet and greet with Michael Shannon, last seen on TFANA's stage in The Killer.

Tickets and meet and greet must be scheduled by mutual availability. Performances run through June 26, 2016.

216. Private Tour and Tea Reception for up to Ten (10) People at Verdura Gallery

Ward Landrigan, chairman and owner of Verdura since 1985, invites you and nine guests for a private tour and tea reception at the Verdura gallery on Fifth Avenue – his "jewel box in the sky" overlooking Central Park. You and nine of your guests will be joined by Ward, who will treat you to a discussion on the history of Verdura and the jewelry that founder Duke Fulco di Verdura created for his well-known clients, including many Broadway and Hollywood legends. Mr. Landrigan and his staff promise this experience will be "a little education and a lot of trying on pieces!" – a great opportunity to explore your own personal style while being immersed in the splendor, beauty and diverse talents of Duke Fulco di Verdura.

Verdura began his extraordinary career in 1920's Paris as jewelry designer for Coco Chanel. He followed his passion to America in 1934, designing colorful jewels in Hollywood for screen stars such as Greta Garbo and Marlene Dietrich. From his boutique on Fifth Avenue, he established himself as a boldly innovative designer, admired to this day by the Who's Who of Broadway, Hollywood, high society and style-makers world-wide.

505. Two (2) Maximilian's List Tickets to Sleep No More

Completed in 1939, the McKittrick Hotel was intended to be New York City's finest and most decadent luxury hotel of its time. Six weeks before opening, and two days after the outbreak of World War II, the legendary hotel was condemned and left locked, permanently sealed from the public. Until now...Seventy-two years later, Emursive has brought the Grande Dame back to life. Collaborating with London's award-winning Punchdrunk, the legendary space is reinvented with Sleep No More, presenting Shakespeare's classic Scottish tragedy through the lens of suspenseful film noir. Audiences move freely through a transporting world at their own pace, choosing their own path through the story, immersed in the most unique theatrical experience in the history of New York. As a Maximilian's list guest you will have front of the line access, complimentary coat/bag check, and a reserved table in Manderley Bar with a bottle of bubbly libations to enjoy through the evening.

The reservation may be redeemed for any available evening through July 31, 2016. Must be scheduled at least one week in advance.

START BID: $200 MINIMUM RAISE: $25 VALUE: $340

506. Two (2) Tickets to White Rabbit Red Rabbit

White Rabbit Red Rabbit has been called a play. But it's a lively, global sensation that no-one is allowed to talk about. The actor has never seen the script. In fact, there is a new actor every performance, and they've only been told what is absolutely necessary: Do not Google this play, prepare to impersonate someone and once you start, you must finish...NO MATTER WHAT. Each performance features a different actor. Enjoy two (2) tickets to this performance and spend an evening with a celebrity of your choosing such as Wayne Brady, Mike Birbiglia, Cynthia Nixon, Martin Short, or Alan Cumming. Slyly humorous and audaciously pointed, this 'theater entertainment meets social experiment' is unlike anything, and will make you question everything. Have fun!

Tickets must be used by June 27, 2016. Reservations must be made at least five business days in advance of the performance you wish to attend. Blackout dates may apply and all tickets are subject to availability. Reserve tickets early to ensure availability.

Works on Paper by MILTON GLASER

Awarded the National Medal of Arts by President Obama in 2009, legendary graphic designer Milton Glaser is offering an extraordinary body of work that he has created for Theatre for a New Audience. Milton's work for the Theatre, centered on varied interpretive portraits of Shakespeare, has forged a powerful graphic identity for our printed materials. In addition to gracing the Theatre's brochures, posters, and materials for the Theatre's Annual Gala, Milton designed the Scripps Award that will be presented this evening to John Douglas Thompson and the Life in Art Award presented to Cleary Gottlieb Steen & Hamilton LLC. Glaser created the iconic image, "I ♥ NY," as well as campaigns for the School of Visual Arts, logos for Angels in America and the Children's Television Workshop, and corporate identities for such diverse companies as Brooklyn Brewery, Grand Union, and the Rainbow Room. Milton has created the graphic and signage program for Theatre for a New Audience's Polonsky Shakespeare Center.

Limited edition giclée prints:

Every year, Milton creates a series of limited edition prints expressly for the Theatre's Gala. This year, we are offering three 17" x 22" giclée prints. These autographed prints are being offered at a fixed price, which includes shipping and handling. Your print will be delivered to you within two (2) weeks of the Gala.

What is a giclée?

The word "giclée" is derived from the French language word "le gicleur" meaning "nozzle," or more specifically "gicler" meaning "to squirt, spurt, or spray." It was coined in 1991 by Jack Duganne, a printmaker working in the field, to represent any inkjet-based digital print used as fine art. In the past few years, the word "giclée," as a fine art term, has come to be associated with prints using fade-resistant "archival" inks (including solvent inks) and the inkjet printers that use them. The quality of the giclée print rivals traditional silver-halide and gelatin printing processes and is commonly found in museums, art galleries, and photographic galleries.

Giclée prints, signed and titled by Milton Glaser:

Size: 17" x 22".

Unframed. Out of edition. Market value: $400.
